

ESG Letter of Commitment

Environmental, Social and Governance

We live in the age of sustainability, the concept behind the ecological transition. The rapid and widespread diffusion of this term within society, businesses and institutions has made it a common factor in many communication initiatives. It is spoken of in so many different ways and contexts that it risks the impoverishment of meaning of this word: Sustainability.

And instead it is important to understand well the roots of this word, which sink into the Latin "sub-tenere", that is hold from below to ensure that something does not fall. From this, it is easy to understand how such action, as well as sustainability in its widest sense, is not a natural process, but a voluntary and continuous effort, which lasts over time.

So sustainability cannot and must not be considered just a buzzword, but it is the search for new ways of living and working that are long-term, more conscious and more respectful.

It has in its DNA the concreteness of behaviors, actions of responsibility and results.

F.lli Vedani S.r.l. through its "Policy -ESG" helps to identify and communicate the commitment to the environment, social and governance that generate our activities and the objectives that we aim to achieve soon.

It is our contribution to sustainable development that can preserve the future of the next generations and the context in which they live.

It is our concrete commitment to act today with a renewed sense of responsibility.

We do it for our People, for the Environment that surrounds us and for the Future of all of us.
